

Aniin, Aniiish na?
Nimkii
Nindizhinikaaz

I have personally thanked my 1st and 2nd Nominators: Davie Sylvester and Candy Sylvester.

My words have come out later than most. This is not to evade engagement, as I have been listening to our members' wants and needs, as well as examining the concept of "change." This has me dissecting what it means to CAMPAIGN and how we do it. So, my apologies if that seems off, or new – However, with this intention; I do not wish to call anyone down in order to gain your trust and support, and I do not wish to simply say what I think SHOULD be said in place of that of conviction. I understand what we need to let go of as we move forward.

With that being said, these are some primary avenues requiring attention and as efficient operation as possible.

With a diverse 22 years of professional experience, I have fostered true connections and partnership that continue to this day. This is proven in the connections I've maintained with previous employers in public safety and security, health and wellness, education, family well-being and economic development. As the chief/O'Gemaa, my communication would be an asset in representing our nation honorably while ensuring all voices are heard. This includes looking at opportunities for self-governance in increasing capacities that maintain our traditional ways of the Anishinabek. Change means recognizing and correcting approaches that do not support the health and true growth of our generations now and to come. During elections and thereafter, I will go to work for you with my best efforts to lead with diplomacy at heart. Please reach out!
